Memorandum

To: Governing Board

Fr: David McNeill

Date: October 23, 2009

Re: Item 3 - Consideration of a joint resolution with the Baldwin Hills Regional Conservation Authority, authorizing the disbursement of funds from the Authority Account # S8D / 27951SC29, in an amount not to exceed $250,000, for project management and financing of the Baldwin Hills Community Standards District Review

Recommendation: Approve resolution 09-12

Background: Pursuant to BHC resolution 09-11, staff proceeded to engage assistance from experts within the Conservancy's membership to provide input on the critical issues proposed for consideration under the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisor's (BOS) motion to amend the Baldwin Hills Community Standard District Zoning Ordinance (CSD). On September 24, 2009, staff convened an ad hoc committee to assist in making recommendations on the following areas of the CSD review: 1) the focus of the scope of work; 2) the areas of technical support the County Department of Regional Planning (DRP) should seek; 3) identification of potential cost savings within the budget for the review; and 4) procurement of funding to offset the potential cost to County DRP for the review.

1) Focus of the scope of work

The focus of the scope of work is broad and would likely cover a 16 month period timeline (see draft scope and preliminary estimate summary), however the bulk of the tasks are expected to be primarily technical in nature. In the absence of highly informed data analysis and review, County DRP could not establish effective measures that would fix the implementation and enforcement gaps that exist in the current ordinance. Working with professionals who have extensive knowledge and proven application of petroleum geology would help County DRP better address the location and quantity of oil and gas deposits in the Baldwin Hills, while providing a basis for understanding the technical capability available to reach and produce the resources in a manner that is more compatible with the surroundings. Moreover, this type of expertise is essential to effective plan review as well as implementation and enforcement of current or future CSD provisions. Accruing a more strategic policy that initiates the development or evaluation of a field life plan and resource recovery forecast would improve the ability for landowners, neighbors, public and private agencies to prepare for the inevitable exhaustion of oil and gas resources in the region. Any such forecast would need to be tied to variable economic scenarios to account for the volatility of the oil and gas industry.

2) Areas of technical support

The level of technical support required for analyzing the list of measures promulgated in the BOS motion would, at minimum, need to integrate the use of consultants with the following expertise:

- Petroleum Geology
- Petroleum Engineering (drilling, reservoir, reserves evaluation)
- Petroleum Economics
- State and Local Regulatory Enforcement
- Geophysics
- Toxicology
- Hydrology
- Agronomics

To help expedite access to this type of expertise, a register of several qualified firms utilized by the State Lands Commission or the Department of Toxic Substances Control could be provided for County DRP's solicitation effort.

3) Identification of potential cost savings

Recommendations for managing costs on the CSD review include utilizing the Governing Board membership's available expertise to help develop the final scope to include milestones that insures deliverables are reviewed by a representative of the committee during critical stages in the project timeline. Members who have contracted with consultants for similar technical tasks would be available to review and verify the competitiveness of the rates submitted in bids for the project. A representative from the committee would also request to participate in the consultant selection process.

4) Procurement of funding

Procuring funding for the CSD review in a timely manner is imperative. The social dynamics of the CSD review and its long term impact on the region make it necessary to create an atmosphere of objectivity, separating the final review recommendation from any allegiance to the local regulatory body or the company being regulated. Driven by the need to protect the health, safety and well being of the community, the Baldwin Hills

Regional Conservation Authority passed a resolution requesting up to $250,000 from the Authority Account, established under the MOU between our agencies, to offset the potential net costs to County DRP and fully fund the CSD Review (see attached BHRCA resolution). Staff has discussed the resolution with representatives from the BHRCA as well as the committee. Based on the availability of funds in the account (see attached joint powers authority account statement), and consistency with the health and public safety elements of the MOU, staff concurs with the BHRCA motion and recommends authorizing a joint resolution to fund the CSD review.
